

FOREWORD

It is our pleasure to introduce you to the 2003 edition of the Catalog of State and Federal Programs Aiding New York's Local Governments. The Catalog is used as a tool for understanding the complex flows of aid dollars and program responsibilities in New York State. The Catalog would not have been possible without the cooperation and support of many program managers, budget analysts, bureau chiefs and commissioners of State and Federal agencies. Although it is not possible to list every individual's name, we are grateful to everyone involved for their assistance and patience.

In December 1986, the Commission on State-Local Relations issued its first catalog of State and federal programs aiding communities in New York. The information in the catalog was essential to the Commission's fulfillment of its interrelated goals of conducting an ongoing evaluation of: 1) New York State's system of aid to localities; 2) the division of responsibilities among the State and local governments; 3) State mandates on local governments; and, 4) State imposed limits on local taxing and borrowing.

In the years since, subsequent editions of the Catalog have provided State and local officials and the public with a valuable reference tool for understanding the complex flow of aid dollars and program responsibilities in New York. With each new edition, the Commission has worked to enhance and improve the content, organization and presentation of information in the Catalog. That work was formally recognized when the Fourth Edition of the Catalog was chosen by the Government Information Roundtable of the New York State Library Association to receive its Notable Documents Award. This award is presented to outstanding documents produced by New York State government agencies.

The Catalog is revised every two years in an effort to produce the most complete, up-to-date printed guide to local aid in New York. It is hoped that this new edition will help users gain a greater understanding of intergovernmental relations here in New York.

INTRODUCTION

The Commission on State-Local Relations was created to foster a strong relationship between the State and its counties, cities, towns, villages, school districts and other units of government. Because state-local relations involve continuous interaction during periods of economic and social change, policies and procedures must adjust to maintain their effectiveness. Federal and State programs to assist local governments are initiated, modified or ended in response to changes. To aid local governments in tracking and taking advantage of these programs, the Commission produces a Catalog of State and Federal Programs Aiding New York's Local Governments. The catalog may be accessed on the assembly web site at the following location: <http://assembly.state.ny.us/comm/>.

The catalog profiles programs of intergovernmental aid generated from the federal government to the State government, from the federal government to local jurisdictions within the State (with or without State participation), and from the State to local jurisdictions. Compiled from information provided by both State and Federal agency sources, the catalog is among the most comprehensive publications of local aid programs available for New York. The catalog complements other publications of aid programs that provide more detailed information.

A publication that the Commission has found useful in preparing its catalog is the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance (CFDA). It is a compilation of Federal programs which provide assistance to the public. "The primary purpose of the catalog is to assist users in identifying programs which meet specific objectives of the potential applicant, and to obtain general information on Federal assistance programs. In addition, the intent of the catalog is to improve coordination and communication between the Federal government and its State and local governments."¹ The catalog contains programs available to, among others, State and local governments, profit and nonprofit organizations, specialized groups and individuals. The Commission's catalog used the CFDA as a model in compiling the information contained for each program.

The Commission's catalog is updated on a two-year cycle, and this revision reflects the status of programs as of March 2003. This edition of the catalog provides information on financial assistance as well as technical assistance. Several agencies do not provide financial assistance, but nonetheless provide a very useful service to local governments by providing much needed technical assistance.

Although the Office of the State Comptroller is officially designated as the Department of Audit and Control in State statute, this edition of the Catalog refers to it by its more commonly known name. This is also true of Empire State Development which is designated as the Department of Economic Development in State statute.

This publication also provides the following indexing: (1) agency/program, (2) program, (3) object code, and (4) key word.

Catalog Terms

The individual program profiles, the main emphasis of this publication, consist of information about program administration, the award process and method of apportionment, and annual appropriations and disbursements. Within these program profiles, the following terms are used.

Objective - The main purpose or objective of the aid program.

Administering Agency - The New York State and/or the United States government agency which has primary responsibility for administering the program.

Specific Program URL - Web site for particular program.

Object Code - All object codes used by reporting agencies to process payments of grants to local governments are listed for each program. These are the codes used by the State Comptroller's Office to process aid payment information in the State's central accounting system. Note that some programs use multiple object codes, and some object codes are used by more than one program.

Federal CFDA Number - The identification number assigned to Federal programs in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance.

Year Established - The first calendar year in which the program was in operation.

Legal Authority - The State and Federal laws specific to the program, and any regulations governing program operation as reported by State agencies.

Program and/or Fiscal Contacts - Agency staff to be contacted for further information concerning program particulars, including application, rules and funding. When available, E-Mail addresses were added.

Eligibility - Lists governmental (State, counties, cities, towns, villages, school districts) or other recipients (non-profits, private contractors, individuals) which qualify for aid. Stipulations that pertain to applicants for the funding activity are also included.

Type of Program and Use Restrictions - Indicates whether the type of activity supported by the program, at its inception, is a mandated local government activity, or whether participation is optional, with or without subsequent mandatory requirements. Further stipulates any limitations which may be imposed on the recipient as to how program funds may be spent.

Action Required to Receive Aid - Describes the action(s) required by the local government or non-profit to receive aid.

Flow of Funds - Identifies money flow patterns used in the program: (1) Federal to State; (2) Federal to State to Local (Pass-through); (3) Federal to Local; (4) State to Local; or (5) Federal and State to Local.

Type of Aid - Indicates whether funding is for a project grant of limited duration or if it is for an ongoing program.

Aid Formula - If money is allocated among recipients based on arithmetic calculations, describes formula prescribed by law or administrative regulations and formula factors. Note that matching requirements are not treated as "formulas."

Matching Requirement - Where applicable, lists the percentage of program costs which must be provided by the recipient in order to receive aid and the percentage provided by the State and/or Federal governments. Any special requirements or qualifications to matching requirements are also given.

Maintenance of Effort - Indicates whether recipients must show evidence that program funds are being used to expand pre-existing local spending or to provide higher levels of service.

Amounts Appropriated and Disbursed - (1) Program appropriations are listed for State Fiscal Years 2000-01, 2001-02 and 2002-03. (2) Program disbursements are listed for State Fiscal Years 2000-01 and 2001-02 as reported by the administering agencies. (3) Figures should represent amounts paid to recipients, and should not include State costs for operation or administration. (4) Totals reflect "governmental" recipients and "all other" recipients. (5) Amounts appropriated and paid from the State's General Fund are shown separately from amounts appropriated and paid from Federal Funds and other State Special Revenue Funds.

Comments - Any significant additional information provided by the agency.

Limitations

Careful attention has been paid to ensure accuracy. However, inconsistent terminology, differences in agency accounting systems, the potential for miscoding of vouchers, restrictions of the current central accounting system code structure, and the Commission's focus on local government entities all combine to limit the catalog's applications. These limitations are most apparent in the number of programs included and the financial data presented.

For purposes of this catalog, activities are defined as "programs" by each separate administering agency. Since there are no universally accepted rules for determining when an activity constitutes a separate program, identifying the number of aid programs is necessarily somewhat arbitrary. Often, for instance, one statute may authorize a number of distinct but very closely related programs, while other statutes combine programs which differ significantly in funding, operation, or administration. To gain some degree of consistency, the catalog relies on the identification of aid programs generated from a comprehensive, and uniformly administered survey of New York State agency officials. One result of using this process to define "aid programs" is identification of a larger set of programs, often with different titles than may be found in other published sources.

The catalog is primarily concerned with current, statutorily based programs of assistance that channel funds and technical assistance to recipients throughout New York State. As a consequence, programs which are the result of an annual appropriation constituting legislative grants-in-aid are not included.

All of the grant disbursements, whether to a governmental or non-governmental recipient, are made by the State Comptroller's Office, pursuant to a voucher, and charged to a specific "object" of expenditure in the central accounting system. Recognizing the importance of developing program-related payment data for effective legislative oversight and analysis, the catalog is keyed to this grant object coding system. Although every effort has been made to properly associate the flow of funds between the various levels of government to the appropriate program, the user must exercise extreme caution when trying to manipulate the disbursement figures or compare them with appropriation or expenditure data from other sources. While the catalog attempts to reference all "grants to local government" which include monies paid to both governmental and nongovernmental recipients, some local aid amounts are not classified as grants and are paid as part of a State agency's operations.

For these reasons, before any use -- and especially if comparative analysis among programs is contemplated -- the user is cautioned to contact the agency.

ATTACHMENT A

In August 2001, the Legislature adopted a baseline budget for the 2001-02 school year, which provided $12 million in aid to districts. Rather than a formula-derived total, each school district received an amount equal to the district total listed on the 2001-02 Executive Budget computer run entitled BT0321. As the aids listed below were not actually calculated and paid individually in 2001-02, the appropriated and disbursed amounts on the attached, updated forms are listed as "0." The statewide totals included in the BT0321 computer run appear below:

2001-02 AIDS INCLUDED IN BT0321 COMPUTER RUN: JANUARY 2001

	(Amounts in millions)
FLEX AID	9,828.45
TRANSPORTATION (INCLUDING SUMMER)	938.64
BOCES & SPECIAL SERVICES AIDS	586.78
HARDWARE & TECHNOLOGY	27.63
SOFTWARE	44.94
LIBRARY MATERIALS & TEXTBOOK	204.94
FULL DAY K	4.88
UNIVERSAL PREKINDERGARTEN	201.86
CLASS SIZE REDUCTION	139.97
SUMMER SCHOOL	37.42

REORGANIZATION INCENTIVE (OPERATING)	21.31
FUND FOR INNOVATION	15.00
TOTAL 2001-02 COMPUTERIZED AIDS BT0321	12,076.82

Flex Aid

Some of the aid categories for which appropriated and disbursed amounts are listed as "0" are included in "Flex Aid" on the above table. These include the 2000-01 amounts for the following aids: Operating, Tax Effort, Tax Equalization, Transition Adjustment, Gifted and Talented, Minor Maintenance and Repair, Public Excess Cost, Private Excess Cost, Educationally Related Support Services, Extraordinary Needs, Operating Standards and Limited English Proficiency.

BOCES Aid and Public and Private Excess Cost Aids

Although these aids were included in the BT0321 computer listing, they were paid separately, according to their respective statutory payment schedules. Since they were paid separate from the rest of the BT0321 aid, the amounts paid appear on the attached updated forms as 2001-02 aids. These aids do not have "0" entered as the 2001-02 appropriated and disbursed amounts.

Type of Program and Special Restrictions: Optional, but once chosen subject to mandated State and Federal requirements.

Action Required to Receive Aid: Requested technical assistance may be provided during laboratory survey.

Description of Aid/Comments:

The proper performance of diagnostic laboratory testing is a matter of vital concern, affecting the public health, safety and welfare of all New York State citizens. Clinical laboratories and blood banks provide essential public health services in aiding the medical practitioner by furnishing information invaluable in the diagnosis and treatment of disease. Substandard performance of laboratory tests may contribute to erroneous diagnoses and/or result in selection of inappropriate treatment protocols, causing prolonged or unnecessary hospitalization, injury or even death. The Clinical Laboratory Evaluation Program assures the quality of laboratory testing through a program of on-site inspections, proficiency testing, enforcement actions and by providing educational and remediation programs.

The New York State Clinical Laboratory Improvement Act was enacted in 1964, and on July 1, 1965, New York became the first State in the nation to initiate the certification and licensure of clinical laboratories and blood banks. To ensure the accuracy and reliability of results of laboratory tests on New York State residents, CLEP performs both on-site inspections and tests the proficiency of laboratories. These inspections ensure compliance with state rules and regulations relating to quality control, qualifications of laboratory staff, testing procedures, laboratory equipment and performance by requiring laboratories to analyze unknown samples and report their findings. In addition, CLEP/Wadsworth Center provides educational seminars and assists laboratories in remediating testing problems.

Eligibility: Environmental Laboratories associated with State Governments, Counties, Cities, Towns, Villages, School Districts, Public Authorities, Private Non-Profit Groups and Others.

Type of Program and Special Restrictions: Optional but once chosen subject to mandated State or Federal requirements.

Action Required to Receive Aid: Requested technical assistance may be made during a laboratory inspection.

Description of Aid/Comments:

The proper performance of laboratory analysis of environmental samples is necessary to insure the health and safety of the general public and to protect the environment. Improper or incompetent analysis may allow potentially hazardous situations to go unnoticed and unaddressed. Proper identification of toxics in drinking water, ground water, air and waste sites is necessary before adequate remediation and corrective action occurs. Failure to take such action can result in illness, disease and even death. The Environmental Laboratory Approval Program assures the quality of environmental testing provided in New York State through a coordinated certification program, including annual laboratory inspections and proficiency testing.

Chapter 614 of the Laws of 1983, as modified by Chapter 901 of the Laws of 1984, authorized the Commissioner of Health to issue certificates of approval for laboratory analysis in categories including, but not limited to: potable water, non-potable water, sediment, solid waste and air. ELAP currently certifies laboratories for environmental analysis in all these areas; sediment analyses are included in the solid and hazardous waste category. The State of New York or any of its political subdivisions must contract with a laboratory certified for environmental analyses. Testing required by the Sanitary Code, including testing of public drinking water, swimming pools and bathing beaches, as well as tests required by the Environmental Conservation Law on water, air, and solid and hazardous waste must be performed in ELAP certified laboratories. Effective April 1, 1993 the requirement for ELAP certification of laboratories has been further extended by an amendment to Section 502 of the Public Health Law, Chapter 699 of the Laws of 1992, which requires all laboratories performing environmental analysis of any sample of New York State origin to be ELAP certified if ELAP certification is offered for that analysis. In order to insure the accuracy and reliability of tests performed by these laboratories, annual on-site inspections and semi-annual proficiency tests are required.

CONTINUUM OF CARE HOMELESS ASSISTANCE

Objective: Provides a comprehensive approach to develop and implement housing and service delivery programs and helps build partnerships and coordination with states, localities, not-for-profit organizations and the federal government to help homeless individuals and families move to permanent living and self-sufficiency to the extent possible. A Continuum of Care system consists of four basic components:

1. A system of outreach and assessment for determining the needs and conditions of an individual or family who is homeless;
2. Emergency shelters with appropriate supportive services to help ensure that homeless individuals and families receive adequate emergency shelter and referral to necessary service providers or housing finders;
3. Transitional housing with appropriate supportive services to help those homeless individuals and families who are not prepared to make the transition to permanent housing and independent living; and
4. Permanent housing, or permanent supportive housing, to help meet the long-term needs of homeless individuals and families.

Type of Program and Special Restrictions: Optional, but once chosen subject to mandated State requirements.

Action Required to Receive Aid: Non-competitive application for aid required.

Description of Aid:

Flow of Funds: State to Local. Monies are provided partially as an advance and partially as a reimbursement.

Type of Aid: Project Grant

Formula: The Attainment Aid program provided for a total of $10 per parcel over a period of time to help defray the costs of developing an equitable assessment administration program. This program ended with assessment rolls filed in 1998. In 1996 a new program was introduced which provided a payment, up to $5 per parcel, in the year of revaluation or reassessment (only once in a three year period), and up to $2 per parcel in the intervening years. Municipalities were required to meet specific criteria such as uniform assessing practices, quality inventory, timely sales reporting, etc. In 1999, the statute was amended, discontinuing the payments in the intervening years after the 2000 assessment rolls (the discontinuance was later postponed until after the 2004 assessment rolls). Payments of up to $5 per parcel during the year of revaluation or reassessment continue (presently described as Triennial Aid). Furthermore, a new program - Annual Reassessment Aid - commenced in 1999, providing a payment of up to $5 per parcel each year if an assessing unit submits an approved six year plan for physically inspecting and reappraising every parcel at least once in the six year period and systematically reviewing all assessments annually, making changes as necessary in order to maintain an assessment roll where all property is assessed at a 100 percent of market value. Recent statutory changes now authorize the payments to apply to each qualifying roll completed during an assessing unit's first five years in the program, and increases the maximum annual payment thereafter to up to $3 per parcel.

Action Required to Receive Aid: Persons interested in receiving, or finding out more information about this assistance should contact the Director of RPS, or the manager of the regional office nearest them. (Regional offices are located in Albany, Batavia, Melville, Newburgh and Syracuse.)

Description of Aid:

The NYS Real Property System is a set of manual and computerized procedures which function in concert to administer all elements of the real property tax in an orderly and efficient way. The system is supported by the Division's RPS Team and by staff in our regional offices. The RPS Team is responsible for computer software support and documentation. Regional staff work directly with local assessment officials and their staffs to improve administration of the property tax. In addition to computer software, assistance offered by our regional offices ranges from answering local questions to a two-to-three year commitment of assistance in a complete reassessment program.

REASSESSMENT PROJECT SUPPORT

(Technical Assistance Program)

Objective: The goal of a reassessment project is to assess all properties within the municipality at a uniform percentage of value. For projects that are initial revaluations, the goal is to collect a complete and accurate inventory of all parcels in the municipality and then use this data to reassess all parcels at a uniform percent of value. Guidance and assistance to local municipalities is provided during these projects by regional office staff. While reassessments using traditional approaches (i.e., initial and update reassessments) still occur, recent efforts have shifted to support of an Annual Reassessment Program. This program provides an effective way for towns and cities to both achieve and maintain property tax and assessment equity on a continual basis. Traditional approaches of periodic reassessing of all properties in an assessing unit, while generally successful, did not include specific guidelines for a continuous process.

Eligibility: County, City, and Town Assessing Units. Village assessing units are not eligible.

Type of Program and Special Restrictions: Optional, but once chosen subject to mandated State requirements.

Action Required to Receive Aid: Non-competitive application for aid required.

Description of Aid:

Project support includes: preliminary planning and analysis; specification and proposals; project start up; data collection and file building; pre-valuation; valuation and field review; a standard set of GIS map products; assessment disclosure notice and informal hearings; approving the assessment unit; public relations and post-revaluation. ORPS offers various methods of support to municipalities wishing to undertake a program of annual reassessment. ORPS will act as collaborator, partner, facilitator, teacher, and consultant to assist municipalities wishing to pursue this program. ORPS reassessment support in the past often involved staff doing the work for the locality. Recent focus has been on helping to provide localities with the tools and direction to accomplish annual reassessment on their own.

Comments:

Reassessment project support is designed to: (1) encourage municipalities without property inventory data toward compliance with minimum inventory filing; (2) encourage municipalities to revalue assessments on a periodic basis where such activity is scarce; and (3) encourage municipalities to conduct annual reassessments in order to maintain equity among taxpayers in the municipality. The Annual Reassessment Program requires: (1) annual maintenance of assessments at 100 percent of market value; (2) annual systematic analysis of all locally assessed properties; (3) annual revision of assessments as necessary to maintain the uniform percentage of value; and (4) implementation of a local plan to physically inspect and reappraise each parcel at least once every six years.

NYSP BCI - FORENSIC INVESTIGATION SUPPORT SERVICES (BCI-FISS)

Based at the Division's Forensic Investigation Center and Headquarters Crime Laboratory in Albany, these bench scientists and BCI investigative personnel provide the State's entire law enforcement community with a multifaceted, "one-stop-shopping" approach to criminal evidence examination and analysis.

Description of Aid:

- Medicolegal Investigation Unit - This unit provides expert support in the forensic investigation of homicides, suspicious deaths, skeletal remains, assaults, and interviews of living victims of sexual assaults. Its scientific experts and consultants are board-certified experts in forensic anthropology, photogrammetry, behavioral sciences, psychiatry and medicolegal jurisprudence. They conduct forensic case examinations, analyses, referrals and consultations, help investigators with forensic case coordination and review, and render opinions on current and old cases. Services also include skull photo superimposition, radiological identification, trauma and bite mark/pattern injury analyses.
- Violent Crime Case Review - NYSP scientific and investigative experts routinely perform Violent Crime Case Reviews of long-unsolved crimes to determine if any possible leads can be uncovered through the application of new technology. Cases being readied for prosecution and other elaborate investigations also can be evaluated to suggest possible investigative and prosecutorial strategies.
- Computer Crimes Unit (CCU) - Originally established to examine evidence stored in computers seized in criminal investigations, the CCU now devotes much of its efforts to other emerging areas of technology-based crime: pornography, use of computers by predatory pedophiles, consumer and credit card fraud, theft of funds through electronic transfers, money laundering, cellular telephone cloning, theft of services and cyber-terrorism related activity.
- Crimes Against Children - The Division's Child Abuse & Exploitation (CAE) Unit works to prevent, investigate and prosecute crimes against children, supports all law enforcement/social welfare agencies that need assistance with child abuse, neglect, exploitation or domestic violence cases, and serves as a contact point for inquiries from the law enforcement community.
- New York State Violent Crime Analysis Program (NYS VICAP) - NYS VICAP works closely with the FBI's Violent Criminal Apprehension Program to help police identify or link cases involving crimes committed by serial offenders. Services are available to any criminal justice agency wishing to participate. The program provides information management assistance and case-specific analyses to law enforcement agencies investigating potentially related homicides, missing persons suspected of being victims of foul play, unidentified human remains and sexual assaults. Cases are analyzed and cross-searched. If matches are made, VICAP puts the lead agencies or investigators in touch so they can exchange information and coordinate their investigations.
- Forensic Imaging - This section performs such diverse services as updating age progressions of wanted or missing persons, enhancing blurred or distorted photographs, reconstructing skulls, developing scaled illustrations and large demonstration displays of crime scenes for courtrooms or command posts, and preparing hand-drawn illustrations from the interviews with crime witnesses or victims.

Description of Aid:

- Violent Crime Investigative Teams (VCIT) - Teams in each of the Division's upstate troops work with local authorities to investigate serious violent crimes, particularly those that might be part of an ongoing series. VCITs make skilled, experienced NYSP investigators available to assist police agencies statewide. This helps improve case solvability and facilitates prosecutions. The full resources of the State Police, including crime scene technicians, the NYSP Crime Laboratories, the Medicolegal Investigations Unit, and the NYS VICAP and Crime Analysis Unit, are available to communities receiving VCIT assistance.
- Community Stabilization Teams (CSTs) - The State Police supports local community policing efforts by providing supplemental investigators and uniform troopers to help localities build upon the gains made during CNET and VCIT operations. Community Stabilization Teams (CST) offer local police patrols a highly visible NYSP presence to help local departments develop their own effective community policing initiatives and maintain long-term stability once CNET and VCIT operations have been completed. Troopers assigned to CSTs work closely with local jurisdictions to prevent the return of drug dealers, and to develop effective, long-term, local community policing programs.
- Special Investigations Unit (SIU) - SIU combats organized crime and racketeering, specializing in complex investigations that require inter-departmental cooperation, technological expertise and a long-term commitment of personnel and resources. SIU field offices in Albany, Binghamton, Buffalo, Newburgh, Rochester, Syracuse, Utica and White Plains work closely with New York's Organized Crime Task Force (OCTF), federal prosecutors, district attorneys and local law enforcement agencies to target all forms of organized crime, gambling, money laundering, drug trafficking, industry corruption and Internet child pornography.
- Auto Theft Initiative - SIU also provides the framework for a statewide initiative aimed at combating auto theft. State Police investigators assigned to SIU Auto Theft Units in Albany, Buffalo, Long Island, Rochester, Syracuse and White Plains can help requesting local law enforcement agencies attack and dismantle auto theft rings, chop shops, exporters of stolen vehicles and other automobile-related criminal operations. They are backed by the full complement of NYSP technical resources, forensic identification capabilities, agency personnel assigned to the Department of Motor Vehicles and the NYSP Computer Crimes Unit..
- Auto Theft Equipment Loan Program - The NYSP also administers an initiative designed to provide law enforcement agencies sophisticated investigative and theft-prevention equipment they otherwise might not be able to afford. Both specialized equipment and trained investigators are available on long-term loan to requesting agencies. Available equipment includes audio/video gear, auto theft ID devices, body-wire recorders, cameras, intercept/detect equipment, tracking devices and state-of-the-art surveillance vans equipped with tracking, cellular and microwave technology.
- Violent Felony Warrant (VFW) Squad - Seven regionally based VFW Squads are responsible for apprehending violent criminals who flee prosecution or evade arrest. They assist local departments which lack the resources or staff to conduct their own warrant enforcement efforts, and will pursue any violent felony warrant anywhere in the State, if requested. VFW Squads accept all cases defined as violent felony offenses under New York's crime classification system: homicide, sexual assault, felony narcotics, and the most serious degrees of assault, robbery, burglary, arson and kidnapping. It also pursues prison escapees, felony parole violators and "major offenders" - persons whose individual offenses may not be violent, but whose collective criminal histories warrant special attention.

- Aviation - The NYSP Aviation Unit operates a fleet of regionally based helicopters and fixed wing aircraft from bases in Albany, Batavia, Newburgh, Saranac Lake and Syracuse. Its highly experienced pilots search for lost persons and escaped criminals, conduct aerial speed enforcement details, assist in vehicle pursuits, transport NYSP SCUBA divers, Mobile Response Team members, bomb disposal experts and K-9 teams to emergencies, conduct seasonal marijuana eradication sorties, perform rescue and medevac missions, organ donor and recipient transfers, environmental conservation missions and other specialized functions.
- Bomb Disposal Unit (BDU) - Regionally deployed bomb technicians, many of whom are cross-trained as K-9 handlers, perform regular NYSP duties and respond as specialists to bomb-related calls and reports of found military ordnance, commercial explosives, fireworks and dynamite, improvised (homemade) devices and suspicious packages. Related specialized equipment includes bomb containment vessels, X-ray machines, "frag bags" and other devices used for the safe, temporary storage and transportation of explosives.
- K-9 (Canine) Unit - More than three dozen teams of specially trained dogs and handlers are assigned strategically throughout the State. Dogs are trained to detect explosives, narcotics and buried cadavers. The Division also maintains three bloodhounds, which are valuable for tracking or seeking out long-missing human beings.
- Marine Detail - Boat patrols are maintained on Lake Champlain, the St. Lawrence River, Oneida Lake, Lake George, the Hudson River and along the Thruway's canal system to assist boaters in distress, investigate boating accidents, conduct narcotics interdiction operations and work with other police agencies, especially during BWI enforcement details. NYSP marine units promote boater safety by conducting inspections and training, and by enforcing the Navigation Law and other applicable laws.
- Mobile Response Team (MRT) - Specialists in operations, tactics and weapons, MRTs respond to situations requiring specialized training and equipment, such as high-risk arrests, seizures, searches, rescues, barricaded person incidents and narcotics raids. Some team members are cross-trained as SCUBA divers, firearms and defensive tactics instructors. Teams are deployed in three regions: North Team - Troops B, D and G; South Team - Troops C, F, and K; West Team - Troops A and E. Unless engaged in team operations or training, all MRT members are assigned to regular patrol or administrative duty.
- Crisis Negotiation Program - Deployed within each troop are teams of trained negotiators whose primary goal is to save lives. These specialists are networked for ongoing training.
- SCUBA - The NYSP has operated its own underwater diving detail since 1934, and today maintains SCUBA teams in all Troops except L, T and NYC. When not assigned to a dive detail, the Division's divers perform regular patrol and administrative duties.
- Collision Reconstruction Program - The Division's 60+ collision reconstructionists are specifically trained in the identification, collection and preservation of roadway and vehicle evidence. By evaluating and interpreting this material, they can estimate speeds or establish a series of events leading to the cause or causes of a crash. Their assessments often are used to determine if criminal action is warranted.

Description of Aid:

- o HFW Homicide Seminar - The NYSP Medicolegal Investigation Unit is prominently involved in conducting the Division's world-renowned Col. Henry F. Williams Homicide Seminar (HFW). The premiere training event of its kind in this hemisphere, HFW attracts top homicide investigators from around the world. Training of the caliber featured at the Williams Homicide Seminar is rarely available to local police agencies, and the contacts and resources that participants develop will be invaluable in future investigations of violent crime. Seminar participants hear from a diverse group of speakers who are recognized leaders in the field of criminal investigations and forensic science. More than 2,190 homicide investigators from around the world have attended the annual seminar since its inception; each is a member of the Williams Homicide Associates, a network of homicide investigators who can quickly contact each other for case assistance.
- Sex Offense Seminar - The Division's Child Abuse & Exploitation/Domestic Violence (CAE/DV) Unit organizes and coordinates the annual 40-hour Sex Offense Seminar, featuring instruction by leading experts in such areas as interview techniques, sensitivity to victims and their needs, victimology, new technology, photographic documentation and legal perspectives. Unit members also lecture at law enforcement academies, and to school, adult, service and community organizations.
- Laboratory/Forensic Training - In addition to providing forensic training seminars for State Police personnel, the Division's Laboratory System also opens its training programs to hundreds of law enforcement officers annually from city, county and federal agencies and laboratories throughout the northeast and mid-Atlantic states. These seminars promote interagency relations, develop operating procedures and update current training curricula. Among these training seminars are:
 - The New York Prosecutors Training Institute - Together with the NYS Prosecutors Training Institute, the State Police Crime Laboratory at the Forensic Investigative Center annually co-hosts a three-day DNA Capital Trial Advocacy Training Program at the State Police Academy in Albany. Representatives from district attorney's offices throughout the State take part in this exercise, which includes presentations on the effective trial presentation of physical evidence and several DNA mock trial training sessions.
 - Major Crimes Seminar - The Major Crimes Seminar grew out of a recommendation from the Forensic Investigation Center's Advisory Committee to establish basic instruction that would help law enforcement agencies improve the quality of crime scene processing. The resulting Major Crimes-RESPOND (Respond, Evaluate, Secure, Protect, Observe, Notifications, Document) training program incorporates a series of crime scene skits representing the "right" and "wrong" way to handle evidence and give Miranda warnings, and provides a forum for discussing the legal issues involved.

Other courses include: Wood Identification; FBI Latent Print Identification School; FBI Gunshot Residue Analysis; Advanced Fire Debris Analysis Course, Introduction to Microscopy; Advanced Microscopy, and the New York State Toxicology Seminar.

Eligibility: Cities, Towns, Villages, NYS Mortgage Agency, Transportation Authorities, Local Governments and Public Benefit Corporations.

Type of Program and Special Restrictions: Mandated, required by State law or regulation.

Action Required to Receive Aid: No action required, automatic payment.

Description of Aid:

The mortgage recording tax (MRT) is an excise tax on the privilege of recording a mortgage. The MRT consists of six separate taxes. The total amount of the tax depends on the taxes that are in effect in the county and, where applicable, the city where the real property is located.

The six separate taxes have rates varying from $0.25 to $1.75 for each $100 and each remaining major fraction of principle debt or obligation that is secured by the mortgage. Revenues from the "basic" tax of $0.50 per $100 are distributed to towns and cities. Revenues from the "special additional" tax of $0.25 per $100 go to the State Mortgage Insurance fund for each county and, in counties in the metropolitan commuter transportation district (MCTD) and Erie County, some revenues go to special transportation assistance funds. Revenues from the "additional" tax of $0.25 per $100, where imposed, typically benefit regional transportation authorities. Exceptions includes Washington and Warren counties where funds are used to pay expenses incurred for the support of community colleges, Essex County where funds are used to pay expenses incurred from county office and court facility projects, and Franklin County where funds are used to pay expenses incurred from county office and correctional facility projects.

Additional taxes apply in New York City, Broome County, and the City of Yonkers. New York City's tax ranges from $1.00 to $1.75 per $100 depending on the type of real property subject to the mortgage. Beginning September 1, 1994, Broome County imposes a tax of $0.25 per $100 to fund the county Office for the Aging. For the period September 1, 1993 to August 31, 2001, the City of Yonkers also imposes a tax of $0.50 per $100.

FINDING FUNDING FOR LOCAL PROJECTS¹

This chapter is meant to be a legislator's guide to available resources that can make the constituent's search for grants easier. By discussing the organizations, printed resources, and internet sources that can be used to respond to constituent questions, it serves as a complement to the catalog description of intergovernmental programs. The total dollars moving into local programs are substantial. The statistics from private funding alone are impressive. Foundations in New York State hold over $81 billion in assets, and make annual contributions of over $4.4 billion. Many of the largest foundations in New York State, by assets and total giving, are among the largest in the country, and award over one-fifth of all foundation grant dollars in the United States. Grant resources covered in this chapter are organized by type of funding; private giving, government grants, and other sources of information emerging from the advances in technology.

PRIVATE GIVING

The Foundation Center was begun in 1956, by foundations responding to an era of suspicion and public scrutiny, with the establishment of a nonprofit service entity that was charged to make the most comprehensive, accurate information on grantmakers available to any interested individual who might want or need it. Central to the Foundation Center's mission of serving the needs of the general public with current, reliable, factual information about the foundation field is the network of field office libraries and cooperating collections located throughout the nation. Of the five Center libraries, one is located in New York, at 79 Fifth Avenue in New York City. It is open to the public, and offers educational programs on the funding research process, proposal writing, grantmakers, and related topics. It offers visitors free access to Center publications, a variety of supplemental materials, periodicals, how-to guides, foundation annual reports, 990-PF IRS returns, and CD-ROM and internet resources. Those who cannot visit a Center library can usually find a Center cooperating collection nearby. Of the cooperating collections across the nation, 14 are located throughout New York State. (Table 1 shows the cooperating collections in New York State). Each collection is headed by a supervisor who works with local grantseekers to use the resources of collection more effectively. Because these collections vary widely in their hours, materials and services, constituents are advised to call the collection supervisor in advance of a visit. To check new locations, or current holdings, you may call toll free 1-800-424-9836, or visit the Center Web site at <http://fdncenter.org/collections/index.html>.

Two Foundation Center guides that can serve as an introduction to published resources are:

1. The Foundation Center's User-Friendly Guide: A Grantseeker's Guide to Resources. 4th ed. Foundation Center, 1996. It is a basic primer on the grantseeking process. There is a quick introduction through the use of a "Frequently Asked Questions" list.
2. Foundation Fundamentals. 6th ed. Foundation Center, 1999. It is an overview of the funding process that incorporates sample pages from most of the Foundation Center major resources, and includes research in the electronic age.

Foundation Center resources are a good starting point for identifying likely funding sources. Grantmaker directories are well-indexed, accessing profiles by subject areas, types of support, recipient types, geographic areas typically funded, and people identified with grantmakers. They answer constituent inquiries about names and affiliations of local grantmakers, projects that were recently funded, and size of budgets earmarked for projects. Center directories can help local governments find private funders close to home that are more likely to have a greater interest in local problems:

Foundation Directory. Foundation Center, 2002.

The classic guide in three volumes. The main volume covers the most influential funders. Over 10,000 foundations with $3 million in assets or giving $200,000 or more annually. Part 2 covers the second 10,000 largest foundations. Updated entries appear later in the year in the Supplement.

Foundation Grants Index. Foundation Center, 2001.

Recently awarded grants can provide an indication of future funding priorities. Since 1970, this source has presented grants in broad subject areas listed geographically by state and alphabetically by name. The type of support/geographic index directs you to foundations that have made the kind of grant needed in your district. Over 101,000 grants of $10,000 or more are featured in this edition.

Guide to U.S. Foundations, Their Trustees, Officers, and Donors. Foundation Center, 2002.

Master list of the decision-makers who direct America's foundations. Lists over 58,536 private, corporate, operating and community foundations, many smaller ones not elsewhere described. The smaller foundations are especially important to localities. Arranged by state and total giving. The companion volume with its comprehensive name index will help you discover the hidden connections to foundations of local families and community leaders.

Of particular interest:

New York State Foundations. 7th ed. Foundation Center, 2001.

Comprehensive guide to active grantmaking foundations in New York State. It is arranged by county, and then alphabetically. The geographic index immediately locates the grantmakers for any city. Grantmaker portraits include addresses and contact names of key officials and includes giving limitations and financial data. Many entries include descriptions of recently awarded grants.

CORPORATE PHILANTHROPY

In the past decade, as government funding at all levels has declined, more interest has been shown in the area of corporate support. Most corporations provide funds for local projects in areas where they have headquarters or plants.

Many are aware that targeted funding can enhance their image, influence opinion makers, build business-community relationships, or capture stockholder interest. Although corporations are not required to make public their in-house giving programs, there are excellent publications with reliable data on corporate philanthropy, including:

Corporate Foundation Profiles. 12th ed. Foundation Center, 2002.

First part of the text contains 181 multi-page analytic profiles of the nation's largest company-sponsored foundations. Comprehensive grants analyses show the amount of grant money a foundation directs to specific population groups and programs. Includes sponsoring company profile, corporate giving program and corporate foundation within entries. Second part consists of listings of company-sponsored foundations with annual giving of $66,000 or more in years 1998-2001.

Corporate Giving Directory. 24th ed. Taft Group, 2002.

Profiles more than 1,000 of the largest corporate foundations and their charitable and direct giving programs. Company operating locations, nonmonetary support, corporate sponsorship, company contacts, foundation description and financial summary. Lists typical recipients, and provides contributions analysis and grants analysis. Restrictions and applications procedures are provided.

Directory of International Corporate Giving in America and Abroad. 11th ed. Taft, 2000.

The only directory that profiles and tracks giving of 650 foreign-owned firms and United States subsidiaries and affiliates of multinationals. Two independently indexed sections locate information contained in company profiles; grant recipients by state may be of particular interest. Can be used to link the new global independent sector with community-level activities.

Foundation Reporter. 34th ed. Taft, 2002.

Comprehensive profiles and gift analysis of the nation's major private foundations. Lists over 1,000 top private foundations with 13 indexes for access, and an appendix of more than 2,000 additional abridged funder entries.

National Directory of Corporate Giving. 8th ed. Foundation Center, 2002.

Describes 2,996 corporate foundations and 1,295 direct giving programs. Includes giving interests and business activities of sponsoring companies and their giving interests and restrictions. Parent company name and address, local plant and subsidiary locations.

National Directory of Corporate Public Affairs. 21st ed. Washington DC: Columbia Books, 2003.

Lists about 1,700 companies with corporate foundations and giving programs, corporate contacts, and key people in corporate public affairs. Includes over 15,000 public affairs officials. Political contributions, PAC data and independent lobbying data. Geographic and industry indexes. Web sites included.

Most of these sources will be found in local cooperating collections or in business collections at local colleges.

GOVERNMENT FUNDING

Despite the decline in available dollars, federal and state financial assistance to local governments remains an important component of local program funding. Federal aid alone contributed about 25 percent to local government activities in the last decade.

Federal Aid Resources

The following sources will help the grantseeker become familiar with agency giving trends and assist the researcher in finding the correct person to clarify information.

Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance. Washington, DC: General Services Administration. Loose leaf service.

Single best resource for leads on federal assistance administered by federal agencies. Information is cross-referenced by functional, subject, applicant, deadline and legislative authorization indexes. Programs selected for inclusion include assistance or benefits to both state and county, city, or other political subdivision. The basic edition of the catalog, usually published in June, reflects completed congressional action on program legislation. The December update is no longer published. The CFDA website, <http://www.cfda.gov> contains the most current published information. In addition to hard copy of the Catalog, electronic versions are available. Catalog and Federal Assistance Award Data System (CFDA/FAADS) on CD-ROM includes the complete searchable catalog and a FAADS list of who received financial awards by program number, geographical distribution, and organization. Browser software searches either database, and an online tutorial is included. Technical support is available. Call Tel:1-800-669-8331 for further details.

Congressional offices have access to two additional databases called PREAward Grants and POSTaward Grants. They are available through the House Information Resources/Member Information Network System, call (202) 225-7017. These files include current grant availability data from the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance (CFDA) and the Federal Register (FR) as well as the reports from federal agencies about grants awarded in the last four quarters of the fiscal year. These databases are only available through Congressional offices. A request for a search of these databases must be made through an individual Member of Congress.

Federal Register. Washington, DC: National Archives (NARA).

This source can be used to update the information found in the CFDA. It is published Monday through Friday except official holidays. It makes available public regulations and legal notices issued by federal agencies. These include agency documents of public interest, such as notices of grants by various agencies.

You can connect to the FR on the World Wide Web through GPO Access. The address is <http://www.access.gpo.gov/nara>. For more information contact the GPO Access User Support Team, Tel:202-512-1530 or toll free:1-888-293-6498.

Other Federal Sources Include:

Congressional Yellow Book. Who's who in congress, including committees and key staff. Washington, DC: Leadership Directories, 2002. Published quarterly.

Lists Congressional leadership, changes in staff, Senators and staff, Representatives and staff, Senate/House and Joint committees with photos of leadership and seniority rankings, committee staff by majority and then minority, Congressional offices such as Clerk, and membership organizations such as caucuses, Congressional support agencies and personnel, State delegations with Senators listed in order of seniority and Representatives by district, maps of district boundaries, and Congressional district ZIP codes. Biographical appendix, and indexed by staff, subject, and organization (committees, subcommittees, panels, leadership, caucuses and major offices.) Each member entry includes photograph, member name or nickname by member preference, contact information - party, office telephone, fax, TDD, e-mail and internet address - to contact, profession, key staff, committee assignments and leadership positions, and state and district offices.

Federal Grants and Contracts Weekly. The inside guide to finding and winning federal funds. Alexandria, VA: Aspen Publishers.

Published 50 times a year. Announces grants and project opportunities in research, training and services.

Federal Yellow Book. Who's who in federal departments and agencies. Washington, DC: Leadership Directories, 2002. Published quarterly.

Accesses more than 39,000 top people in the Executive Branch of the Federal government. It is divided into Office of the President/Vice President, Departments, Independent Agencies and Indexes. Photo and biographical information on the department/agency head prefaces each listing. Offices are listed according to hierarchy, individuals listed in each by title or rank. Telephone numbers and building addresses provided. Indexed by subject, organizational title and individual name index.

Guide to Federal Funding for Governments and Nonprofits. Washington, DC: Thompson Publishing Group, Government Information Services.

This is a two volume looseleaf set updated quarterly, with a separate volume of twice-monthly issued “Federal Deadline Calendars.” Provides detailed description of more than 750 federal programs. A “Funding Opportunity Index” rates the competitiveness of each program. The rating measures the chances of getting a grant if an eligible applicant has an eligible project. It starts with the award-to-applicant ratio for the most recent two or three years, supplemented by extensive discussions with program officials, grantees, and grants experts. The system rates programs from the most competitive (one star) to least competitive (five stars). In the case of state formula programs where the state receives the funds and subgrants them on a discretionary basis, subgrants are rated on a one- to five-star basis to the extent that information is available on state subgranting practices. Subject Index, Title Index and CFDA cross-reference Index.

United States Government Manual. 2002/2003. Washington, DC: Presidential and Legislative Publications, Federal Register, NARA.

Official handbook for the Federal government. Provides comprehensive information on the legislative, judicial and executive branches of the United States government. Also includes information on quasi-governmental agencies, international organizations and boards, and committees and commissions. Entries include a brief history of the entity, with principal offices and information on activities, grants, and publications. The last section of each entry, called “Sources of Information,” contains information on contracts and grants.

State Resources

The Catalog of State and Federal Programs Aiding New York’s Local Governments. A unique and much-appreciated source of information on the flow of aid dollars in New York. There are, however, some sources that can be used to augment its information:

Grants Action News. Information on available state and federal grants. Albany, NY: New York State Assembly Speaker’s Office, Communication and Information Services.

Identifies new and existing State and federal grant opportunities. Includes program background, eligibility, funding, deadlines, and contact information. Notices of grant writing seminars and workshops. For more information call: 1-800-356-8486. Also listed at <http://www.assembly.state.ny.us> under “What’s New.”

Local/State Funding Report. Washington DC: Government Information Services.

Published weekly except last week in August and last week in December. This newsletter is useful for its notices of Federal funding and for the occasional notice of funding available in a particular state. A compilation of recent funding notices and regulations issued by Federal agencies alerts subscribers.

New York Directory of City and Village Officials. Albany, NY: New York State Conference of Mayors and Municipal Officials (NYCOM), 2002.

Listing of municipal officials, addresses, telephone numbers, counties and 1990 population figures for each city and village. A cross-reference of municipalities in each county is also included. A listing of firms interested in doing business with local governments in New York State is headed, "Municipal Products and Services Directory." To contact NYCOM, Tel: 518-463-1185.

New York State Directory. 2002/2003. Walker's Research, LLC.

Guide to accessing public officials and private sector groups and individuals who influence public policy in the State of New York. Legislative biographies and key committee assignments included. Lists agencies and officials that formulate or implement public policy. Municipal and local government are one of the policy areas headings. Lobbyists and political action committees listed. Includes a name and an organization index.

New York State Register. Albany, NY: New York State Department of State.

Weekly publication listing newly proposed agency rulings as well as changes to existing rules and regulations adopted by State agencies. Of particular interest is the section entitled, "Notice of Availability of State and Federal Funds." Contact Office of Information Services, 41 State Street or call 518-474-6785 for further information.

In addition to subscribing to some of the above services, you may wish to read the Executive Budget and its appendices, and familiarize yourself with the budget process and the published budget bills. You might also call the State agency program officer to see if you could be added to the mailing list for agency newsletters, news releases, program announcements, reports and annual reports or brochures about your program interests.

Recent Electronic Resources

The Foundation Center has made available three types of electronic sources of information that would be of interest to researchers looking for aid to local programs.

CD-ROM:

FC Search

Covers over 65,000 US grantmakers, includes descriptions of close to 203,000 associated grants, and lists approximately 280,000 trustees, officers, and donors. Disc updates twice yearly. Customized searches from 21 subject search fields, from all four types of private foundations. Searchable by locality, state name, city name, and geographic focus.

Foundation Grants to Individuals

Search through over 4,000 foundations and public charities that fund needs of individuals. Search fields are similar to FC Search. Access to current contact names and addresses, application forms information and deadlines, program descriptions and financial data is provided. Scholarships, loans, travel funds, awards and grants by nomination, research and professional support, and graduate assistance may be found through this database.

The Web Site:

The newly designed web site advertises a new customized user experience. "Foundation Finder" contains basic facts and contacts for about 70,000 private and community foundations. "Online Library" responds to e-mailed reference questions and includes online training sessions. "Literature of the Nonprofit Sector" is a searchable database for the philanthropic literature on any subject. "The Marketplace" gives descriptions of Foundation Center publications and training opportunities. "About Us" gives information about the Foundation Center services and contains annual reports and press releases.
<http://www.fdncenter.org>

Electronic Vendor Subscription:

The Foundation Directory and Foundation Grants Index are both available through DIALOG database searching. Many cooperating collections offer searches for a fee. The State Library will do searches at the request of legislative staff. Inquiries should be directed to the Reference Desk: 518-474-5355. Legislative staff may search databases with a PIN number that can be obtained from Circulation by calling (518) 473-7895. Ask for "Remote Access."
