

SAVE MONEY by taking advantage of energy assistance programs

Visit the NYS Energy Research and Development Authority (NYSERDA) website to learn about free and low-cost programs to help lower your energy bills. You may qualify for a free home energy assessment or upgraded energy-efficient appliances.

Learn more at: nysesda.ny.gov

Stay safe in the summer heat

Intense summer heat can lead to power outages and dangerously high temperatures. Make sure you stay safe by spending time in air-conditioned buildings like libraries, malls or local cooling centers.

Look inside to learn about efforts to lower your energy bill

Assemblyman
Fred W.
Thiele, Jr.

Consumers need relief from soaring energy bills

“Skyrocketing energy bills are straining family budgets. It’s time to hold utility companies accountable.”

– Assemblyman Fred W. Thiele, Jr.

Thiele is working to lower energy bills by:

-  Cutting a tax on energy bills, saving residential and business customers $600 million over the next 3 years (Ch. 59 of 2014)
-  Creating a Utility Consumer Advocate (UCA), an independent voice to protect families from unfair rate hikes (A.6239-B, passed Assembly)

“...the Assembly took a giant step for New Yorkers today by passing legislation to create an independent utility consumer advocate office with the power to go to court over unfair rate increases.”

— Beth Finkel, State Director for AARP New York

A Utility Consumer Advocate is needed in New York

-  New Yorkers pay some of the highest utility rates in the country. Residential customers pay 68% more than the average American.*
-  New Yorkers paid even more this winter with rates increasing statewide anywhere from 10% to a staggering 75%.
-  In the 40 other states that have a comparable UCA office, consumers have seen up to $243 saved for every dollar invested.*

*states.aarp.org/nys-leaving-utility-consumers-out-in-cold-while-other-states-save-millions-with-advocate

schumer.senate.gov/Newsroom/record.cfm?id=350589

