Restoring Public Trust...

As a former prosecutor, Assemblyman Anthony Palumbo has experience cracking down on corruption. Now he's on the job in Albany taking on the most corrupt state government in the country, with a plan to restore public trust:

- Term limits for legislative leaders and committee chairs;
- Harsher penalties for corrupt public officials who violate public trust;
- Limit the use of campaign funds to only campaign activities;
- Strip pensions from elected officials convicted of a felony; and
- Strengthen penalties for sexual harassment to make Albany a safer place to work.

It's time to clean up Albany.
