Helping Protect You from Fraud

Alert:

“...a new scam has been circulating around the New York area offering ‘free’ medical alert devices...”

*NYS Department of State's Division of Consumer Affairs
July 29, 2013*

Protect yourself from scams

- Don't give out personal information over the phone, mail or email
- If you receive an unsolicited call, identify the company and get a phone number and address from the caller
- Check your monthly bills and statements for errors
- Immediately report any suspected scam or fraud

“You’ve worked hard for your money, but financial exploitation is on the rise. I’m working to protect you, so you can enjoy the benefits of your hard work.”
