Roughly one year ago, on my first day as an Assemblyman, the New York SAFE Act was rushed through the legislature without debate or consideration for our Second Amendment rights. Never before had I witnessed, firsthand, such disregard for our liberties as Americans. Following the passage of this law, I've spoken at every event dedicated to its repeal, worked to inform the public of its constitutional abuses, marched to the governor's doorstep over 100,000 petitions demanding the law's repeal, and sponsored a bill, along with State Senator Kathy Marchione, demanding its full repeal. We must continue to fight together to repeal the New York SAFE Act.
