November 2016

Promoting Awareness of Domestic Violence

Every year during Domestic Violence Awareness Month, the Korean American Family Service Center organizes the Silent March Against Domestic Violence and teams up with local electeds and community partners for advocacy and outreach. I had the honor of joining KAFSC for its 19th Annual March in Flushing to raise awareness and promote efforts to put an end to domestic violence.

Increasing Access to Cancer Screenings

During Ovarian and Breast Cancer Awareness Months, I announced legislation that would require insurance companies to include coverage for ovarian and breast cancer screenings. These bills would help prevent insurance companies from discriminating against individuals with high predispositions to cancer by requiring coverage upon recommendation of a physician.

Encouraging Reusable Bag Use

Hundreds of free, reusable bags were given away to local seniors in Flushing thanks to a partnership with Citizens Committee for New York City! The distribution was held as part of ongoing efforts to encourage reusable bag use and raise awareness about a new city law set to take effect on February 15, 2017 that will place a 5 cent charge on single-use plastic and paper bags.

Bringing Rent Relief to Fresh Meadows

Together with the Mayor's Community Affairs Unit and New York City Department of Finance, Council Member Barry Grodenchik and I led a Senior Citizen Rent Increase Exemption (SCRIE) and Disability Rent Increase Exemption (DRIE) enrollment event. For more information on either of these rent relief programs, please call my office at 718-820-0241.

Supporting SACSS' Food Pantry

South Asian Council for Social Services held its annual gala celebrating 16 years of dedicated service to the community. Funds were raised in support of the South Asian food pantry – the first program of its kind currently running out of SACSS' Flushing office. For more information on how to contribute to the program, or to learn more about services provided, visit www.sacssny.org.
