A Message From Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright

Dear Neighbor,

This week I joined Congresswoman Carolyn Maloney and women's advocates at a rally to oppose Supreme Court pick Brett Kavanaugh. There is too much at stake-- our fundamental civil rights, health care and protections for women's bodies-- to approve this nomination. I am urging the US Senate to vote NO on Brett Kavanaugh!

Next week, I hope you will join us for a panel on clutter, "What to Do With All That Stuff" at the Church of the Holy Trinity, 316 East 88th Street, on Tuesday, July 17 from 6-8pm.

I hope you find this update informative. Please stay in touch with my office about any issues that are important to you. As always, we are just a visit, call, or email away.

Sincerely,

REBECCA A. SEAWRIGHT

Community Update...

Seawright Stands with Congresswoman Carolyn Maloney To Slam Supreme Court Pick

On Monday, Assembly Member Seawright joined with New York City elected officials and representatives from local and national women's organizations to oppose Brett Kavanaugh, President Trump's Supreme Court nominee to replace retiring Justice Anthony Kennedy.

Brett Kavanaugh is a known conservative with hostile views towards Roe v. Wade, affordable health care labor unions, LGBTQ rights and civil rights. If his nomination is approved, these and other bedrock rights will be at risk and the court could be dominated conservatives for decades.

"Trump's SCOTUS pick represents everything we have been fighting against. The Supreme Court should be an institution that moves us forward, not one that threatens our fundamental rights and freedoms. We, as New Yorkers and Americans, cannot stand for someone who will roll back protections against discrimination and access to critical healthcare. That is why I stood With Congresswoman Carolyn Maloney and so many other advocates to call on our leaders in the Senate to vote NO on Brett Kavanaugh's nomination," said Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright.

In 1970, the New York State Legislature proved to the nation that it was a progressive champion for women's reproductive rights by legalizing abortion for all New York residents and non-residents – three years before the landmark U.S. Supreme Court Roe v. Wade decision. The court's decision made abortion access a fundamental right for all women and expanded on New York's 1970 legislation by ensuring every woman has access to a safe, legal abortion at any stage of pregnancy to protect her life and health. Now more than ever, we know these federal protections are in grave danger. And without Roe v. Wade, women in New York would be dependent on state laws to protect their reproductive rights, highlighting a dire need to update these laws.

Without the protections of Roe v. Wade, women in New York would be left with outdated laws that still criminalize third trimester abortions, with very limited exceptions. The New York State Assembly, and every other progressive leader knows that every woman deserves the right to determine the course of her pregnancy and her reproductive health. These decisions are personal and complex. That is why we have repeatedly passed legislation to ensure women have access to cost-free contraception and that their reproductive decisions are kept private from their employers. We also believe that women's reproductive health issues belong in the public health code, not the penal code. In turn, we have fought tirelessly for years to update our laws and codify the protections of Roe v. Wade into New York State Law.

Since 2013, the New York State Assembly has passed legislation to codify Roe v. Wade into New York State law six times. Year after year, we have been told by Senate Republicans that this legislation is unnecessary. Roe v. Wade isn't going anywhere they told us. Even after the constant attacks by the Trump administration on women's reproductive rights, they have continuously refused to vote on the bill. So year after year, New York women are left vulnerable and we are left wondering why our colleagues don't value women's self-determination or respect their ability to make their own health care choices.

There may have once been a time when we felt comfortable with the protections Roe v. Wade offered. That time has passed! Now these fundamental rights are threatened like never before. We cannot afford to take this right for granted. New York has led the charge on many critical issues: same sex marriage, sensible gun legislation, fair minimum wages, and paid family leave – just to name a few. This is not a time when we can afford to fall behind. Women in New York are counting on us to do the right thing.

President Trump campaigned on a promise to appoint anti-choice Supreme Court justices in hopes of undermining and even overturning Roe v. Wade. With the loss of Justice Kennedy and the appointment of Brett Kavanaugh to the Supreme Court, women are closer than they have ever been to losing access to safe, legal abortions. The loss of these critical protections would have real consequences with lasting effects for women for generations to come. This regressive administration is testing New York's legacy as a progressive leader. The time to act is now!

Seawright Supports Girl Scouts of Greater New York Troop 6000 Now Serving More Than 500 Girls and Women Across Five Boroughs

Thanks to a public-private partnership and $1-million City investment, Girl Scout Troop 6000 has expanded to 15 shelter locations citywide

The de Blasio Administration announced that Girl Scout Troop 6000, the first of its kind Girl Scout troop dedicated to serving girls and women in the shelter system as they get back on their feet, has expanded to 15 shelter facilities for families with children across all five boroughs. Troop 6000 has more than 500 girls and women now participating in the leadership-and-community-development program. Girl Scout Troop 6000 was established in February 2017 through a partnership between the City's Department of Homeless Services and the Girl Scouts of Greater New York.

“As a former Girl Scout, troop leader and mother of a scout, I know firsthand how the Girl Scouts molds young women into the next generation of leaders. In their training and everyday acts of kindness, they have been instrumental in exemplifying the ideals of fairness, equality and community service we should all strive to live by,” said Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright. “I couldn’t be more thrilled that Troop 6000 is expanding its reach to 15 additional shelters citywide. This expansion will leave young women with the same important life lessons and leadership skills I received and will prepare them with the confidence, character and compassion to live by the Scout Law.

Homelessness today is driven by economic factors, including years of stagnant wages not keeping up with the rising costs of housing. Families comprise nearly 70 percent of the Department of Homeless Services shelter census—and roughly one third of the shelter census is school-age children 17 years old or younger. Programming like Girl Scouting engages young New Yorkers through positivity, promotes teamwork by strengthening the bonds between young New Yorkers experiencing homelessness, and preserves stability, all while demonstrating the importance of ongoing community involvement. Research has shown that Girl Scout alumnae have a stronger sense of self, achieve higher levels of education, and are more likely to reach a higher socio-economic status. Through innovative partnerships and supportive programming like this, the Department of Homeless Services is offering new opportunities to homeless New Yorkers, improving the experience for families with children during challenging times, and helping to turn the tide.

Each week, Troop 6000 meets in shelters across the city, led by trained troop leaders—women also living in the shelter system as well as community volunteers in conjunction with shelter staff. To accommodate the mobility of these girls and women, troop leaders and girls alike can attend meetings at any shelter knowing they are all already part of the same welcoming troop.

Exhibit Opening Night Celebration

July 16, 6-7:30 pm.

Join us as we salute our new exhibit "New York Women, War & Patriotism, 1812-1918," with refreshments and music. Enjoy an after-hours evening in the Museum, and meet the descendants of Hildreth Meière, mural artist, designer, and member of The Colonial Dames of America. Meière was one of the thousands of women who enlisted in the Navy during WWI and her story is featured in the exhibit. Enjoy a special selection of songs from the era of the Great War performed by Paul Errico.

Free with Museum admission; free for Museum Members. Reservations required: click here.

New York Women, War & Patriotism, 1812-1918

June 30-September 9

From the War of 1812 to World War I, women who were loading shot on front lines, building ships in navy yards, furnishing hospitals and supplying ambulances were also simultaneously battling for their own right to vote as citizens. Join us in commemorating the American women who fought for their country even as they also fought the battle for the ballot box. This exhibition features the efforts of New York artist, Colonial Dame and Navy Yeomanette Hildreth Meière during WWI.

Free with Museum admission during Museum hours.

HEAD AND NECK CANCER

This type of cancer can occur in the nasal passages, mouth, throat, or voice box. There are thousands of new cases of head and neck cancer each year, many of which can be cured. The best chance for a cure is when the cancer is found early.

THE WARNING SIGNS

Frequent nose bleeds; ongoing nasal congestion; persistent sore or growth in mouth or throat; constant earaches; lasting change in voice; bloody phlegm lasting several days; lump in neck lasting more than two weeks; or problems swallowing

SCREENING

- Ten-minute exam by conducted by MSK Head and Surgeons and Nurse Practitioners to look for signs of head and neck cancer.
- Counseling on quitting smoking.
- Nutritional advice on cancer-preventive diets.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

- Adults who smoke, drink, or spend a lot of time in the sun.
- Adults who notice any of the warning signs of head and neck cancer.
