FIGHTING AGAINST RISING PRICES

In every sense, living in New York has become more expensive than ever before. In just a matter of months, prices on everything from gasoline to home heating fuel and groceries have increased dramatically. Chris knows times are tough, and that's why he's called for passage of the Inflation Relief and Consumer Assistance Plan.

The Inflation Relief and Consumer Assistance Plan would temporarily slash state sales tax on items such as gas, home heating fuel, prepared food, housekeeping supplies, etc. It would deliver $2.6 billion in relief statewide (A.8481), putting money back into the pockets of residents as the state's tax receipts continue to exceed financial forecasts by billions!
