SAVE ENERGY AND SAVE MONEY TOO!

Energy-saving strategies differ depending on the type of home or apartment you live in, but with a little practice, you can find yourself saving hundreds and reducing your carbon footprint along the way.

FOR EVERYONE:

- ※ As the holiday season approaches, decorative lighting is everywhere; consider setting those lights on a timer or unplugging them overnight
- ※ To keep cold air out and warm air in, use door bottoms, thresholds, or door shoes that seal gaps beneath exterior doors
- ※ Keep drapes open during the warmer days of the season and during daylight hours for that natural heat

FOR APARTMENT RENTERS:

- ※ Consider less energy usage for lower energy bills, i.e. unplug devices when not in use
- ※ When sleeping, if you have a thermostat, lower the temperature by seven to ten degrees
- ※ Ask your landlord about caulking and weatherstripping around your windows and doors to reduce heat loss

FOR HOMEOWNERS:

- ※ Consider installing low-use water fixtures in your sinks and showers
- ※ If you have an attic, make sure the vents are not blocked so air can flow through freely to minimize the use of an attic vent fan
- ※ When getting your boiler serviced, which may be a yearly event, ask for a combustion analysis, a report that will tell you how efficiently it is operating
