Working to Strengthen Our Economy

This year, Assemblyman Ken Blankenbush has been traveling all across the state promoting work force development, job training, and apprenticeship programs. As the Co-Chairman of the New York State Assembly Minority Conference's Learning For Work Task Force, Ken has been listening to testimony from manufacturers, contractors, small business owners, and nonprofit service providers about the jobs they struggle to fill and the skills they need from workers.

He's taking their testimony back to our district and bringing legislation to Albany.

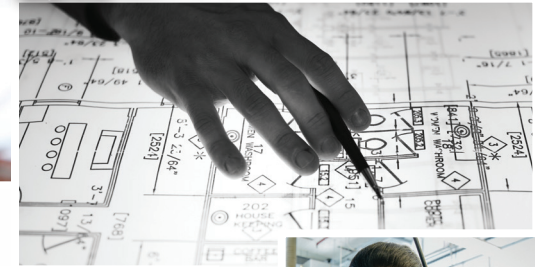

Ken supports tax credits to encourage small business owners and manufacturers to provide the apprenticeships our kids need to learn trades and acquire technical skills (A.4255).

Ken wants to create a new Regents Professional Diploma for high school students who excel in their chosen occupational field (A.4255).

Ken sponsors big tax cuts and comprehensive regulatory relief so small business owners can hire more of their neighbors (A.4553).
