YOUR ENERGY, YOUR CHOICE

A SPECIAL MESSAGE FROM:

ASSEMBLYMAN  JOHN
LEMONDES

“New York has been on the leading edge of creating green and sustainable energy alternatives. While some have advocated for moving away from fossil fuels entirely, the reality is we are just not there yet. There are many areas in Central New York that still don’t have reliable access to green alternatives like sustainable heating and electric charging stations. This is why I voted against banning gas stoves in new construction across our state¹. As your Assemblyman, I fully support your right to choose when it comes to energy consumption.”

GIVING NEW YORKERS A SAY

John voted against prohibiting natural gas and other fossil fuels in most new buildings by 2026¹.

SUPPORTING RURAL ENERGY

Enact the Rural Energy Freedom Act to exempt wood heating and cooking for recreational activities from greenhouse gas emissions reduction requirements².

ALLOW FOR ENERGY DIVERSITY

Prohibit municipalities from adopting laws that discriminate against using certain types of energy sources³.

INCREASING ACCESSIBILITY

Require electric charging stations to include handicapped spaces large enough to accommodate wheelchair-accessible vehicles⁴.

PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE

Conduct a cost-benefit analysis of the technical and economic impacts of meeting the Climate Leadership and Community Protection Act targets for renewable energy systems in our state⁵.
