

Assemblyman Burke:

Providing relief for Western New York families

Inflation is taking a toll on hardworking, middle-class families. That's why I worked to include measures in this year's budget to ease the financial burden on Western New Yorkers."

Assemblyman Burke is fighting to support our families

High inflation hurts workers the most. To help ease the financial strain on local families, Assemblyman Burke passed a state budget that provides:

- $2.2 billion of property tax rebate checks for households that are eligible for School Tax Relief (STAR) and earn $250,000 or less a year
- an acceleration of the phase-in of middle-class tax cuts so they are fully effective in 2023 instead of 2025, saving taxpayers $777 million over the next two years
- $475 million for an additional Earned Income Tax Credit and Child Tax Credit payment
- $250 million to help New Yorkers catch up on utility bills

Report Price Gouging

Price gouging is illegal in New York and complaints concerning “unconscionably excessive” prices can be reported to the office of the Attorney General at
