

New York State Legislature
2024 Joint Budget Hearing
Housing
February 14, 2024

Written testimony submitted by email to wamchair@nyassembly.gov and financechair@nyenate.gov.

My name is Noelle F. Eberts. I am the Supervising Attorney at the New York Legal Assistance Group and I submit this testimony in support of continued funding for New York’s Home Ownership Protection Program (“HOPP”), which is the sole source of funding for the statewide network of housing counseling agencies and legal services agencies providing foreclosure prevention and homeownership preservation services for New York’s struggling low and moderate income (“LMI”) homeowners. The Governor’s proposed budget eliminates all funding for HOPP, even though the services this network provides are more crucial than ever.

Founded in 1990, New York Legal Assistance Group (NYLAG) is a leading civil legal services organization that combats economic, racial, and social injustice by advocating for New Yorkers experiencing poverty or in crisis. Our work include comprehensive, free civil legal services, financial empowerment, impact litigation, policy advocacy, and community partnerships. NYLAG exists because wealth should not determine who has access to justice. We aim to disrupt systemic racism by serving individuals and families whose legal and financial crises are often rooted in racial inequality. NYLAG goes to where the need is, providing services in more than 150 community sites in New York (e.g. courts, hospitals, libraries) and in our Mobile Legal Help Center. NYLAG’s staff of 300 impacted the lives of nearly 129,000 people last year.

NYLAG’s Foreclosure Prevention Project (FPP) is in its twelfth year as a HOPP grantee. This continued stream of funding has allowed FPP to take on complex foreclosure prevention cases, to delve into areas of law that allow homeowners to keep their homes, and to provide outreach in the form of pro se assistance and community education to numerous individuals throughout the five boroughs and Long Island. Since the only other funding NYLAG’s FPP sometimes receives is from the Center for NYC Neighborhoods, HOPP is a critical support that allows NYLAG’s work to continue.

Across New York State, the HOPP network comprises 89 non-profit housing counseling and legal services providers who help New York homeowners, coop owners and condo owners avert homelessness and displacement by preventing avoidable mortgage and tax lien foreclosures, who combating mortgage fraud, deed theft, loan modification and partition scams, and who challenge predatory and discriminatory lending and abusive mortgage servicing practices that disproportionately impact New York’s most vulnerable communities—seniors and people of color. The network serves every county in New York State and all five boroughs of New York City, but current grants funding this vital network end on July 15, 2024, and the Governor's budget proposes to de-fund this program even though the need for these services is more acute than ever before. A total of $40 million is needed to ensure that the existing HOPP network is able to meet the existing need in light of the unprecedented homeowner distress across New York State, which dwarfs the rates of default seen during the last foreclosure crisis.¹

As recently as November 14, 2023, Governor Hochul signed important legislation making improvements to various aspects of the law that will benefit homeowners who have already been victimized by deed theft scams. At a bill signing ceremony at Brooklyn Law School that day, Governor Hochul spoke compellingly about how central homeownership is to the American dream. Sitting beside her as she signed that legislation, along with Attorney General Letitia James, were Joseph Clarke and Jacqueline Knight, who were victims of a pernicious deed theft scam and clients of a HOPP grantee legal services agency who had successfully pursued protracted litigation that restored the title to their home. Governor Hochul praised the HOPP agency's efforts over years of litigation to restore the couple's home, but less than two months later her proposed budget would eliminate funding for the very program whose advocates restored Mr. Clarke and Ms. Knight's home after they fell prey to a deed theft scam. The recent legislation, as well as additional provisions contemplated in the proposed budget, are important protections, but without the HOPP network distressed homeowners will have nowhere to turn but to the scammers looking to prey on them, and the provisions meant to provide protections for deed theft and partition scam victims (including those contemplated in the Governor's proposed budget) will be of no use if the HOPP-funded programs representing homeowners seeking to vindicate their rights under those initiatives are eliminated.

We are thankful for the Legislature's consistent support for HOPP and we recognize that without the restoration of funding for this program every year when funding for it was excluded from the executive budget proposals, New York would have long ago lost its investment in the country's most robust foreclosure prevention network. The executive budget's exclusion of any funding for the HOPP network—New York's only program focused on preserving existing homeownership, largely in communities of color and affecting the elderly—threatens the termination of this vital program just when it is most needed.

- New York is continuing to see high delinquency rates, especially in communities of color. According to U.S. Census Household Pulse Survey data, as of fall 2023, an average 8% of New York homeowners were delinquent on their mortgage loans, with an average of 306,587 New York families at risk of losing their homes. These numbers show a significant increase in mortgage distress since the prior year, when the number of families at risk was 288,261. This delinquency rate dwarfs the rate of 2.2% in January 2020, right before the COVID pandemic started, and exceeds the high of 3.8% in January 2009, during the height of the financial crisis and Great Recession. Court filings are also rising, with New York State Unified Court System data showing nearly 11,000 new foreclosure case filings in the first eight months of calendar year 2023, and nearly 21,000 pending foreclosure cases across the State.

- HOPP preserves homeownership in communities of color. Statewide, 43% of clients served by our network providers are homeowners of color; in NYC, the number exceeds 75%. The foreclosure crisis following the great recession disproportionately impacted New York's communities of color, who were targeted for the predatory lending that precipitated that crisis. The COVID-19 pandemic has been no different, with the health impacts and the economic pain felt more acutely amongst black and brown New Yorkers. On average, 15.72% of Black homeowners in NY are delinquent compared to 7. % of non-Hispanic white homeowners, as reflected in the US Census Pulse Survey data available in the fall of 2023.
- A complicated patchwork of federal and state programs has evolved in the aftermath of the pandemic that homeowners cannot navigate on their own. FHA, Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and conventional lenders launched different forbearance plans and loss mitigation options for distressed borrowers, and New York State enacted its own law on forbearance programs for New York-regulated lenders and mortgage servicers. Accessing relief requires understanding the details of these various interventions and knowing who owns the loan in question and what program a homeowner may be eligible for. Homeowners need help to ensure they can access relief and they need advocates to make sure lenders are complying with applicable federal or NY laws and regulations. New York's Homeowner Assistance Fund, which has made federal funding available to assist distressed New York homeowners in a program administered by NY Homes and Community Renewal ("HCR"), which is now winding down, has reached a small portion of New York's distressed homeowners, and it has been dependent on the HOPP network to assist homeowners in accessing the program.
- For more than a decade, this network has been helping families in every county across New York State, and in each of the five boroughs of New York City, navigate complex housing challenges -- including mortgage fraud, scams, displacement, discriminatory lending and mortgage servicing -- and it has helped thousands of families to keep their homes and allowed them to stay in their communities. It has helped not just the individual families affected by foreclosures but the communities at large, by preventing displacement and by preventing the increased crime and reduced property values that accompany waves of foreclosure, which, in turn, adversely affect the local community tax base.

Without the restoration of the funding proposed to be eliminated by the Governor's proposed budget many of those not-for-profit housing counseling agencies and legal services providers will be ending their homeownership retention services when current contracts expire on July 15, 2024 and will be forced to turn away homeowners needing their assistance, leaving New York's struggling homeowners more vulnerable to the scammers peddling foreclosure rescue deed theft schemes and distressed property consultants, whose ranks have been multiplying as real estate values are increasing in many regions of the state. Indeed, even now, with the Governor's proposed elimination of the program causing uncertainty about the continuation of the program after the current contract year (as it does every year) case acceptance at HOPP-funded agencies is inhibited, because agencies cannot in good conscience accept new cases that have no prospect of resolution prior to July 15, 2024 with the continuation of the program after that date in question. This uncertainty is also damaging to HOPP staff morale, many of whom are lost every year when the program's continuation is thrown into question by the Governor's proposal to de-fund HOPP.

Not only will New York families suffer and face displacement; employees across almost 90 organizations are in danger of losing their jobs, and their expertise, along with the associated infrastructure in place that supports this network, which represents a substantial investment by the State of New York, will be discarded.² NYLAG's HOPP funding enables our Foreclosure Prevention Project to employ five full-time attorneys and three full time paralegals. This team served 825 homeowners last reporting year and our attorneys have over thirty years of foreclosure defense and real estate experience among them. If HOPP funding is not timely renewed, NYLAG is at risk of losing this incredible wealth of knowledge.

There are also a number of laws and programs in New York State that depend on HOPP network services; HOPP service providers are embedded in New York's consumer

² In the contract year that ran from July 16, 2021 through June 15, 2022, the HOPP network of housing counseling agencies and legal services providers served 9,501 clients, with a total staff count of 473 (203.53 FTE). In the following contract year (running from July 16, 2022 through July 15, 2023), the network served 20,564 clients (more than double the number served in the prior year), and it increased its staffing levels, with the total staff count increasing to 637 (289.67 FTE) (thanks to the increased funding of $35 million allocated in the FY 2022 budget). In the current contract year, for which the FY 2023 budget allocated $40 million, which runs through July 15, 2024, the HOPP network's staffing has further increased to 667 (FTE 316.47) as groups across the State continued to ramp up capacity to meet the increased need for services, and we expect the number of clients served to exceed that of the prior contract year. At the conclusion of the current contract year on July 15, 2024 the current allocation will have been exhausted, given the significant ramp up in hiring to meet the increased demand for services. These numbers are derived from HOPP grantees' data reporting to the two Anchor Partners who work with the Office of the Attorney General to administer the HOPP grants, Empire Justice Center and the Center for New York City Neighborhoods. This is consistent with industry reports showing that foreclosure starts in the first half of 2023 increased by 15 percent compared to the same period in the previous year. Indeed, New York is among the states with the most foreclosure starts, along with California, Florida, Texas, and Illinois. protections enacted after the foreclosure crisis, which are now a permanent part of our foreclosure process, such as:

- Lenders are required by law to send pre-foreclosure notices specifically identifying counseling agencies serving the homeowners' county—the very agencies that will be no longer funded to do foreclosure prevention work if funding lapses. For homeowners with more complicated mortgage issues, counseling agencies refer homeowners to NYLAG before lawsuits even begin. This referral system allows many homeowners to quickly resolve their mortgage issues and avoid unnecessary litigation as well as related fees and expenses, which are passed on from the servicers to homeowners.
- Network providers are integral to NY's pioneering foreclosure settlement conference process, where we partner with the courts to staff clinics and conferences, and have been instrumental in drastically increasing the numbers of homeowners with representation at settlement conferences and in increasing the numbers of homeowners answering foreclosure complaints and preventing default judgments. NYLAG regularly holds free walk-in clinics for homeowners and also serves as friend of the court during settlement conferences and traditional motion calendars. As a friend of the court, our attorneys routinely help homeowners succinctly and clearly explain complex mortgage histories and financial circumstances to the Court. Additionally, the Court routinely refers homeowners who come in seeking legal information in cases that are too complex for the Court Helpdesk to assist. Our attorneys assist hundreds of homeowners with pro se answers and other legal documents that allow the Court to more readily discern the legal merits of a case. As the courts have reopened and foreclosure filings increase, we are prepared to bring over a decade of expertise to handle the backlog of foreclosure cases as a result of the pandemic.
- The homeowners receiving help from HOPP agencies are working, LMI families, New Yorkers of color who were targeted for predatory loans, seniors battling a wave of foreclosures on reverse mortgages and tax and water liens, and families who have experienced illness or deaths that have landed them in financial distress. The network mitigates displacement from foreclosures, scams and mortgage distress and its advocates challenge abusive mortgage servicing by financial institutions and discriminatory lending practices such as reverse redlining, in which vulnerable communities were targeted for the most toxic of loan products. Of late, the HOPP network has been tackling the epidemic of "zombie second lien" foreclosures, pursued by debt buyers who purchased for pennies on the dollar long-abandoned second mortgages, which were marketed during the heyday of predatory lending as toxic “80/20” loans targeted to communities of color. The originating lenders abandoned those underwater loans years ago, but with appreciating real property values, speculators and private equity are now attempting to foreclose on homes saddled with these second liens, even though the claims are largely barred by statutes of limitations. NYLAG’s FPP has also made a dedicated effort to assist those who have been scammed - either through a form of deed theft or a pure financial scam. In some cases, we are able to settle or correct the wrong before ever getting to court. Even when legal recourse gets stymied, we are able to assist individuals with their next steps in their new reality. Community education is an essential part of our mission as the main goal is to prevent people from being scammed. In areas where property values are unstable, we represent individuals in the sale or refinancing of their homes thus preventing them from being taken advantage of by scammers or savvy investors. The FPP has also represented numerous homeowners in cases on appeal.

We urge the New York State Legislature to restore $40 million in funding for HOPP in this year’s budget so that the HOPP network can continue its great work combating urgent housing issues and continuing to help homeowners in distress and foreclosure
