Woodside on the Move's Testimony on the Urgent Need to Fund and Pass Statewide Right to Counsel (S2721)

Woodside on the Move (WOTM) is a proud member of the Right to Counsel Coalition, which unites tenants, organizers, legal services providers, unions, faith communities, and many others who are working to ensure that all New Yorkers across the state have a Right to Counsel when facing eviction. We and members of our Housing Courts Must Change! Campaign collectively represents tens of thousands of tenants across New York State and is honored to work on permanent and transformative solutions to New York's eviction crisis.

The historic passage in 2017 of New York City's Right to Counsel law made NYC the first place in the nation to establish a Right to Counsel for tenants facing eviction and inspired a movement across the country, which has now seen over 20 cities, states and counties win a Right to Counsel, including Westchester County in 2023. The statistics speak for themselves: 84% of NYC tenants with a Right to Counsel lawyer have won their case and have been able to remain in their homes, and default evictions, as well as eviction filings, have dropped dramatically. San Francisco saw a 10% drop in eviction filing rates in just one year after passing a universal RTC, and two-thirds of all represented tenants were able to remain in their homes. Cleveland found that within the first six months of having a Right to Counsel, 93% of tenants with a Right to Counsel lawyer avoided eviction or an involuntary move.

Right to Counsel works. It's a solution with a proven track record of success everywhere it's passed. Yet while New York City led this charge, the majority of New Yorkers still lack this fundamental right. And with landlords suing over 175,000 New Yorkers for eviction, New York State needs Right to Counsel now more than ever. In many localities across the state, only a fraction of tenants facing eviction are represented. In Albany, for example, in 2022, less than 2% of tenants had an attorney, while the vast majority of landlords were represented. This rate of representation is even lower when it comes to affirmative cases to protect against neglect of repairs, harassment, or illegal lockout. Most tenants outside of New York City experience housing court as a place that only exists to facilitate eviction—a place where they have little to no recourse to assert their own rights, in particular, their right to a safe, habitable home.

That's why we are now fighting, with over 100 statewide partners, for a Statewide Right to Counsel. S2721, our Right to Counsel for ALL legislation introduced by Senator Rachel May, guarantees the right to a free attorney for all New Yorkers facing displacement across the state. This year we are also requesting $260 million in funding to begin Right to Counsel's implementation. $260 million is the necessary first step in empowering a wholesale change in our court system. It's going to allow for tens of thousands more tenants to be represented. It will equip attorneys to fully litigate their cases and help ensure long-term housing stability for tenants. It will transform workplace conditions for legal providers and help us to compete nationally, attracting the next generation of civil legal talent to New York State. It will support organizers whose work is essential to ensuring tenants know what their rights are and how to use them. And it will establish a new state agency, the Office of Civil Representation, to oversee the Right to Counsel.

At Woodside on the Move, several of the cases our organization handles comprise eviction proceedings, rent overcharges, and repair and maintenance issues. Our tenants come from all over Queens including but not limited to Woodside, Sunnyside, Jackson Heights, Astoria, Elmhurst, Corona, Flushing, Rego Park, Long Island City, Maspeth, and Kew Gardens. Working directly with Queens tenants, Woodside on the Move reaffirms our belief in the power of enacting a fully-funded Statewide Right to Counsel and how it could benefit our tenants and community members greatly. Our Housing Case Manager and Housing Specialist & Community Organizer, Emely Vargas and Abigail Jimenez state, "Without legal representation, our tenants are just lost and confused and can fall through the cracks. Going to court and especially going to court without representation destabilizes tenants mentally and ultimately physically. Our tenants need measures like a fully-funded statewide Right to Counsel now."

We urge you to support the funding and passage of Right to Counsel in the budget this year. As a society, we cannot stand by any longer while New Yorkers are forced into a confusing and traumatizing court system without counsel by their side, and as a result, face devastating consequences that could've been avoided. We know that establishing this right will keep New Yorkers in their homes, prevent an array of long-lasting harm to our families and communities, and save our state money in the long term. New York has every reason to pass and fund S2721 in the budget this year, and we count on your leadership to ensure this happens.

Thank you,

William Jourdain
