NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

SUBJECT: Chronic Absenteeism and Low Attendance in K-12 Education

PURPOSE: To examine the root causes of chronic absenteeism and low attendance in primary and secondary schools in New York State and explore solutions to help increase attendance rates.

Thursday, January 22, 2026
10:00 AM
Roosevelt Hearing Room C, Legislative Office Building
Albany, NY 12248

ORAL TESTIMONY WILL BE BY INVITATION ONLY

In recent years, particularly since the COVID-19 pandemic, student attendance rates at primary and secondary schools in New York State have been alarmingly low. According to a 2024 report from the Office of the New York State Comptroller, more than one-third of K-12 students statewide were chronically absent in the 2022-23 academic year, meaning they missed at least 10% of school days. The report also demonstrated that the most severe rates for chronic absenteeism were in high-need districts and urban areas. Additional studies have shown that chronic absenteeism is closely tied to family stability and child well-being, as persistent absences can be driven by factors such as housing instability, child welfare involvement, and limited access to supportive services.

Despite efforts by New York State to combat this problem, including launching statewide public awareness campaigns and refining chronic absenteeism calculations to improve accuracy, attendance rates have remained low and have not yet returned to pre-pandemic levels. For these reasons, the Assembly Standing Committees on Education and Children and Families seek to examine the root causes of chronic absenteeism and low attendance in primary and secondary schools statewide, including a holistic assessment of both home- and school-based factors. The Committees seek feedback from stakeholders and experts on both longstanding and recent trends associated with chronic absenteeism, as well as efforts to bolster attendance in schools.

Persons invited to present pertinent testimony to the Committee at the above hearing should complete and return the enclosed reply form as soon as possible. It is important that the reply form be fully completed and returned so that persons may be notified in the event of emergency postponement or cancellation.
